

What is PBIS?

PBIS is a set of strategies and systems that enables our school to:

- A) create a culture of positive behaviors
- B) reduce behavior disruptions
- C) create appropriate environments to educate all students

This approach fosters successful social behavior and encourages school staff, students, families and community members to work together to create a safe social culture with consistent expectations.

How does PBIS work?

PBIS invests in prevention. Some of the strategies include:

- Proactive intervention - identifying the behaviors expected in all settings.
- Active teaching - teachers, students, families, and community members often work together to teach and model appropriate behavior.
- Ongoing recognition of appropriate behavior
- Clear, consistent consequences for inappropriate student behavior
- Additional support for students with more significant needs
- Collecting and using data to make decisions

Explicitly Taught Expectations

How do we teach social behaviors?

- Create clear behavioral expectations.
- Communicate clearly to students what we want
- Explicitly model desired behavior and provide practice opportunities.
- Monitor student behavior.
- Provide performance feedback.

When do we teach behavior?

- At the beginning of school year or activity
- Often enough to achieve and maintain fluency.
- Before times when problem behaviors tend to increase.
- Ongoing throughout the year (judicious review of data).
- At teachable moments.

Where do we teach behavior?

- Where you want the behavior performed.
- Everywhere in the school.
- Imbedded in other school activities.

Why do we teach behavior?

- They are necessary skills for success in life.
- Many students arrive at school without these important skills.
- They are the basis for a positive and safe climate.
- Doing so increases opportunities to teach other skills.
